SUBJECT: ESTABLISHMENT OF THE RESEARCH, MONITORING AND EVALUATION OFFICE (RMEO)

I. RATIONALE

In its desire to perform its vision, mission and mandates, initiatives such as "Looking Back and Moving Forward" Consultative Workshop held in June 2014, Visioning Workshop in 2006 and the National Sector Support for Social Welfare and Development Reform Project (NSS-SWDRP) identified the need to enhance the evidence-based policy making of the Department and established a well-defined research program and M & E system for the DSWD. To further strengthen its research, and monitoring and evaluation functions, the Department issued Memorandum Circular No. 11, series of 2009 (Guidelines for the Formulation of DSWD's 5-Year Research Agenda); Memorandum Circular No. 14, series of 2009 (Revised Terms of Reference for the Research and Development Technical Working Group); and Memorandum Circular No. 22, series of 2009 (DSWD Monitoring and Evaluation Framework).

As part of the Department's response, the Research, and M&E Units were established at the Policy Development and Planning Bureau (PDPB) in 2009 and 2011, respectively, to complement the efforts of the DSWD along these areas. Along with this, the Memorandum Circular No. 1, series of 2010 (DSWD Research Agenda CY 2010-2014) was issued to provide the research areas/themes that intend to address the current and emerging needs and concerns of the social welfare and development sector. Following this, Administrative Order No. 9 (Guidelines in the Provision of Research Grant), and Administrative Order No. 19, (Research Protocol), both series of 2011, were also promulgated as mechanisms to encourage participation of partners and stakeholders in the implementation of the Research Agenda, and to guide researchers and the Department's personnel in assisting researchers for research undertaking, respectively.

In CY 2013, the development of Unified Results-based M&E System (URBMES) for regular monitoring and evaluation of the Results Frameworks of the Department was completed, and Memorandum Circular No. 4, series of 2014 (Guidelines in the Operationalization of the Unified Results-based Monitoring and Evaluation System) was issued, as part of the strategic initiatives of the Department in attaining its goal of becoming the world's standard on the delivery of coordinated social welfare and development services for poverty reduction by 2030.

Given these developments and in consideration of the Department's thrust to strengthen the agency's capacity along research development, implementation, and advocacy, and its monitoring and evaluation system towards developing empirically-based policy decisions, the need for a distinct office is deemed essential. As such, the Research and Monitoring Units of the Policy Development and Planning Bureau were lifted from the latter to form the Research, Monitoring and Evaluation Office as supported through the issuance of Special Order No. 878, Series of 2014 (Creation and Designation of the Research, Monitoring and Evaluation Office).

II. LEGAL BASES

ANNEX A.

The RMEO Functional Structure shows the role of the RMEO in the overall picture of research and M&E in the Department. In particular, the external and internal environment contextualizes the entire spectrum of where we are operating as DSWD along these areas. Within DSWD, our Management, the members of the Executive Committee and Management Committee provides the overall guidance and direction to the Department on research and M&E. The roles of each Office are also summarized in this figure as well as the crucial role that the RMEO will play in providing leadership along research and M&E.

At the Outcome level, the RMEO will contribute directly in making the monitoring and reporting of our Agency Results and Objectives more dynamic and timely, and also in making sure that there would be systematic application of short term and strategic research in policy formulation and program development. With these, the RMEO can contribute in the overall enhancement of policies, plans, and programs of the Department, which would lead to the improvement of our organizational performance as a whole.

ANNEX B.

The URBME System is composed of three major phases and five major stages as presented in the figure above. The system starts with Planning for Results where the drafting and adoption of the Department’s Overall Results Framework and the preparation of the various OBS Results Frameworks as cascaded from the overall framework is delivered. In this phase, the development and finalization of indicators for each level of development results is conducted.

After formulation, adopting and cascading of results frameworks, the M&E for Results takes place (Phase 2). In this phase, results-based M&E planning both at the Department level and at the OBS and FO level happens to be followed by internal assessment and reporting or the assessment of performance at each implementing levels.

The third phase is Managing Performance for Results which mainly focuses on feed-backing of the results for policy and decision-making purposes and knowledge management.
